

Whitebridge Road

By Tabbatha Schultz - Third Grade, Second Place

I live on Whitebridge Road. Just on this road alone there are many things that have a lot of history.

The Capoolong Creek is a place where my family and I go hiking, biking, swimming, and fishing. On occasion you may even see people on horseback. 30 years ago my dad rode his mini bike on this trail to Hopples farm where he worked after school. The Lehigh Valley RR used to run along this trail to help ship peaches and in 1909 a train hit a cow near the bridge on White bridge Rd!!!!

There are two churches on Whitebridge Road, The Quaker Friends Meeting House and St. Catherine of Siena. There is also a post office on Whitebridge Road in Quakertown. 80 Years ago, when my great grandfather built my house, Whitebridge Road was a dirt road and you didn't have to worry about going down the hill on a sled in the snow because there were very few cars. Now in 2007 it is a major thruway for people coming and going from Clinton to Flemington.

In Oct. of 2000 the bridge on Whitebridge Road was mysteriously painted white. It is still white today and no one knows who did it.
